

Block Based Construction Kit

Order Code - STEM-012

This course makes it easier for children to understand the basics of Physics. The concepts that they learn helps them throughout their learning process in science concepts. Children build complex machines and mechanisms and see the advantage of one over the other. Moreover, they develop tremendous creator confidence in imagining and executing the output of their machine.

STEM

